

HIGHWAY 1/RUCKMAN BRIDGE TRAFFIC SHIFT

Two overnight closures are necessary to shift northbound and southbound traffic to the newly completed section of the Ruckman Bridge. This shift allows traffic to continue moving while the rest of the permanent Ruckman Bridge is built. The bridge is expected to be complete by mid-2011.

Please be aware that the first 400 feet of southbound Hwy 1 will be reduced to one lane for approximately 4-6 months during this new traffic alignment. Southbound traffic will return to two lanes before entering the MacArthur Tunnel.

Drivers should be aware of the new roadway alignment and lane merge.

See the image on the right for the new traffic alignment.

Drivers should be aware of the new roadway alignment and southbound merge. Please USE CAUTION in construction zones.
